nurse's aides are on the reserve list. Mrs. J. A. Dodd is chairman of this service.

As the name implies, volunteers in the Red Cross Canteen Service prepare and serve food wherever and whenever the need arises. It may be to servicemen or veterans at hospital parties, entertainments or picnics, or to disaster victims in shelters during hurricanes, floods or fires. Assisting with community canning project or school lunchrooms is also part of the service. Records show that 3,145 persons were served food by this group last year.

Volunteers on Duty

In the local chapter, the canteen service is headed by Miss Ruth Kleinmaier, with Miss Mary Faye McMillen, cochairman. Nineteen persons gave 139 hours of service during the year. A dinner was served to members of the Junior Red Cross at a meeting where the Junior field representatives spoke to members, teacher sponsors, school principals and superintendents. This service has also given many hours of work during the war and at the present time is on the reserve list, subject to call.

Completing the list of Volunteer services is the Social Welfare Aide service. Assisting in chapter Home Service, these volunteers serve with professional social workers in helping to solve the many personal, family and financial problems that come to them from servicemen, veterans and their dependents.

Last year in the Marion chapter, eleven members gave 1,175 hours assisting at the Red Cross office as well as taking care of emergency wires received on weekends. Miss Mary E. Smith is chairman of this group in Marion. Throughout the nation, trained volunteers completed 328,210 interviews.

Four other Volunteer services of the Red Cross, Motor Corp, Production and Supply, Staff Aide and Community Service to Camps and Hospitals were outlined in a previous article.

Red Cross flags, together with the American flag, are being flown in the business district and posters and displays serve as reminders that March is Red Cross month. A large banner across East Center street designates headquarters and tonight a large Red Cross will be lighted on the courthouse grounds. Lapel pins designate the workers.

OHIO VETERANS START BIG RUSH TO GET BONUS

Distribution of Marion County Application Forms Under Way Today.

"Meat on the table, money in the bank, new shoes for baby, and a house built out of plank," were among the thousand and one reasons Marion and Ohio veterans rushed to some 3,000 distribution centers throughout the state to secure application forms as the "Bonus Rush" of World War II veterans opened today.

At 12 noon the big National Guard truck bearing Marion county's 17,250 state bonus application forms rolled up to Red Cross headquarters, 133 West Center street, unloaded its cargo, and the program of county civic and veterans organizations to assist the veterans in preparing the forms got underway.

An announcement this morning by Red Cross officials stated that county veterans would be welcome to come to the Red Cross starting at 12 noon today until 7 p. m. tonight where facilities will be available for the processing of their applications. These facilities will also be available at the Red Cross for possibly a two-week period starting tomorrow between the hours of 9 a. m. and 7 p. m. the announcement continued. This announcement was a reversal of information given The Star Saturday.

Applications Distributed

Representatives of veterans and civic organizations participating in the program to assist the veterans in preparing application forms were on hand at Red Cross headquarters to receive their allotments of applications.

The Marion County Veterans Service officer, John R. Schwartz, announced today the schedule of his office for aiding veterans in preparing their bonus applications. "Starting at noon today until 5 p. m. veterans may find assistance in preparing their applications at the county veterans service office, 132 East Center street. Beginning at 5 p. m. today, the service officer and his staff will be on hand at the Ohio State Employment Service offices, 163 East Center street, to assist veterans until 9 p. m. Starting tomorrow morning the service officer and his staff will be available from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. at the veterans service office and from 5 p. m. until 9 p. m. at the OSES offices. This schedule will be in effect for a possible two week period," Schwartz said.

Out of State Veterans

Out of state veterans may secure aplication forms by writing to either the American Red Cross, 133 West Center street, or the Marion County Veterans Service at 132 East Center street. Upon receipt of their forms they may complete them in the usual way and mail them to C. W. Goble, Director, The World War II Compensation Fund, 293 East Long Street, Columbus 15, Ohio.

Certificates in lieu of lost discharges may be obtained by veterans by filing applications to the proper federal agencies. These applications may be secured at the Red Cross, the Army Recruiting office, the Navy Recruiting office, the County Veterans Service, or the Veterans Administration.

Veterans whose service includes duty both as an officer and enlisted man were advised by the county service officer, John R. Schwartz, that it will be necessary for them to include both their discharge as an enlisted man and certificate of service as an officer if they were commissioned after Dec. 7, 1941 and before Sept.

Says Politics Delays Action

Truman Tells Newsmen in Key West Campaign Holds Up Legislation.

By The Associated Press

KEY WEST, Fla., March 1—President Truman today blamed presidential year politics for holding up settlement of important international and domestic problems.

The President said he wasn't being critical of any one, that it was a natural development in a campaign year, with several candidates for president in and out of congress.

At the same news conference—held on the lawn of his quarters at the commandant's house here—the President:

Reiterated he will be glad to meet Premier Stalin of Russia, but only if the latter comes to Washington.

Refused to be drawn into a controversy over threatened southern Democratic revolts. He even described Virginia Governor William Tuck's recommendation on the Virginia legislature for a law which would bar his name from the ballot this year as a possible attempt to return to the old constitutional approach to election of delegates.

The presidential year is having a very bad effect on the settlement of our foreign and domestic affairs, Mr. Truman said.

He said it applied to all problems.

Pressed for details, he said he had in mind the foreign situation generally and the housing program at home, both of which he said should have bi-partisan approach.

At all previous conferences for some months—this was his first at Key West where he is vacationing—the President refused to answer the "jackpot question" as reporters call it.

"What can you tell us about your own candidacy in 1948?" A news man asked.

He said he had been too darned busy with foreign affairs and domestic problems and he hasn't had a chance to think about it.

He joined in the laughter that followed.

MARCH LION HERE, HE'S SLIGHTLY TAME

Not Much Roar as Proverbial Beast Arrives.

The proverbial March lion charged into the city today in a tame sort of way hoping to make friends with the citizens despite the fact they were forced to button up overcoats against the freezing temperatures. The moderately cold temperatures are due to continue for a few days, according to reports, with a forecast of "cloudy tonight with snow or rain by morning" issued by the Columbus weather bureau for Marion and area. Thursday is to be cloudy with snow, possibly changing to rain.

Spring-like weather which existed throughout the state last week was dispensed with over the weekend by sharp winds and freezing temperatures beginning Saturday night.

There was a light snowfall in Marion yesterday with snow flurries also reported in other parts of central Ohio.

Low temperature between 8 a. m. yesterday and the same hour today was 24 degrees, and the mercury had risen to 35 by noon today. High yesterday was 33. A year ago, thermometers registered at a high of 29 and a low of 22.

Finns Open Talk on Stalin's Proposed Friendship Treaty

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, March 1 — discussions began within the Finnish government today on Prime Minister Stalin's proposal for a Finnish-Russian treaty of friendship and mutual assistance.

President Juho Paasikivi, it was learned, will be told Wednesday of the final decisions of major political parties on the idea, which is expected to be submitted to parliament. The government's official statement on the subject is not expected before Wednesday night.

Well informed sources said the president is in favor of signing such a treaty. Over the weekend he received K. L. Kulo, head of the pro-Moscow Socialist Unity party.

The executive committee of the Popular Democrats, a bloc of the Communists and the Socialist Unity party, is to discuss the proposal later today. Premier Mauno Pekkala is to attend.

Press and radio here published yesterday the text of Stalin's letter to Paaskivi, dated Feb. 22 and closing, "with deep respect." The letter proposed negotiations in Moscow or Helsinki toward a "pact of friendship, cooperation and mutual assistance" against "possible German aggression."

NEWSMEN JAILED FOR CONTEMPT. Behind the bars in Orange County Jail at Newburgh, N. Y., are news editor Douglas V. Clarke (left) and reporter Charles L. Leonard after they had been jailed for refusing to reveal their sources of information for gambling stories in the "Newburgh News."

2 Newsmen In Jail Hailed As "Martyrs of the Press"

By The United Press

NEWBURGH, N. Y., March 1—Two newspapermen who went to jail rather than reveal a confidential news source were hailed as "martyrs of the press" today and were swamped with gifts from admirers.

Douglas V. Clarke, 33, news editor of the Newburgh News, and Charles L. Leonard, 27, reporter for the paper, began serving 10-day sentences last Friday for contempt of court. They also were fined $100 each, which they refused to pay.

They were held in contempt after they refused to tell a grand jury where they obtained numbers lottery tickets reproduced in the newspaper along with an article on gambling conditions in the city. They said to reveal their source would break a confidence.

"You are martyrs of the press," said Monsignor Henry O'Carroll, 82-year-old dean of Catholic clergy in Rockland and Orange counties, who visited them to give them his blessing.

The Catholic prelate was only one of dozens of visitors who came to the jail yesterday.

"A steady stream of candy, flowers, cigars, cigarets and ice cream, dozens of letters and telegrams and phone calls and visitors have been pouring in," said Clarke. "We've worn out from being social.

"It's pretty nice to have so many friends, but the beds are hard and I've got kinks in my back."

Meanwhile, State Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican prepared to introduce a bill in the legislature today which would protect newspapermen from divulging their sources of information.

Wallace Brennan, of Dunkirk N. Y., president of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, called for every member to appeal for passage of Desmond's bill.

Attorneys for the two newsmen tried unsuccessfully on Saturday to free the men on a writ of habeas corpus, but it was denied on jurisdictional grounds.

The men have not paid their fines because their attorneys said that would be an admission of "the correctness of the conviction and penalty."

Clarge said he was particularly pleased by a gift from the local ice cream store.

"I used to stop by every day after work for a fudge sundae," he said. "Now they've promised to send me one every day I'm in jail."

ARREST NAZI WOMAN LONG BELIEVED DEAD

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, March 1—The arrest of Frau Gertrud Scholtz-Kling, 46, head of the womens branch of the Nazi party throughout the war, was announced today by agents of the U. S. Army. She was long thought to be dead.

She was apprehended near Tuebingen, in the French zone, yesterday on a secret tip. With her, the agents said, was a onetime aide of Heinrich Himmler, SS (Elite Guard) Col. August Heissmeyer, to whom Frau Scholtz-Klink was married in 1940. He also was arrested.

The agents said Col. Heissmeyer was carrying a poison vial of the type used by Hermann Goering in Nuernberg prison. They said he made no effort to use it when French and American agents walked in.

Bandits Rob Bank Runner Of $20,000

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 1 — A messenger of the Roumanian Savings & Loan Co. today was robbed of $20,000 by six armed men, who used a truck and sedan to "box" him into a traffic snarl, police reported.

The victim, 32-year-old Lloyd Filip, was carrying in his automobile a valise containing money withdrawn from a Cleveland Trust Co. branch, police said.

Filip, told police he was driving from the bank to the loan company when the truck and an old auto hemmed in his car.

When he attempted to drive his car clear, Filip said, drivers of the truck and sedan pointed revolvers and two saw-off shotguns at him, took the $20,000 and escaped, abandoning the other two vehicles.

RECIPROCAL TRADE EXTENSION ASKED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 1—President Truman today asked congress to extend the reciprocal trade agreements act for three years, until June 12, 1951.

Mr. Truman said in a message the trade agreements act has been in effect for 14 years and has become "an essential element of United States foreign policy."

The act gives the president power to work out tariff-cutting agreements with other nations. The United States agrees, for instance, to cut import duties on British-made products and Britain agrees to cut her import duties on American products.

The act was first put on the statute books in 1934 and has been renewed four times. It said the president could cut tariffs to one-half what they were in 1934.

While the power is granted to the president, the state department actually works out the agreements.

MUST SAVE 16 NATIONS, SAYS GOP SENATOR

Michigan Leader Tells Colleagues Decision Can Be Turning Point.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 1—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) appealed to the senate today to "help stop World War III before it starts" by approving the European recovery program.

The foreign relations committee chairman opened debate on the $5,300,000,000 Marshall plan by telling his colleagues they face a decision "that can be a turning point in history for 100 years to come."

Denouncing "treacherous Moscow propaganda" that has "charged us with iniquitous American imperialism," Vandenberg said the 16 western European nations must be saved from economic chaos.

"This vast friendly segment of the earth must not collapse," he said in a prepared address.

"The iron curtain must not come to the rims of the Atlantic by aggression or default."

The Communist Cominform, the Michigan senator said, is frankly calling on its adherents to wreck the Marshall plan.

See U. S. As Target

"It is indeed 'cold war'," he declared. "It is pressure war against the independent recovery of Europe. Obviously it also is aimed at us."

Yet Vandenberg said there is nothing in the proposal to help wetern Europe economically that "threatens the Soviet police empire with any sort of consequence which she does not herself choose voluntarily to invite."

"Peace with justice is our utterly paramount concern," he declared. "Any thought of another war is abhorent to our soul.

"But peace and appeasement are not on speaking terms; and the totalitarian idea of vitually dividing the earth between Washington and Moscow would not be peace. It would simply be a dishonorable truce preceding final, unspeakable disaster."

Approval Indicated

As Vandeberg took the floor there were indications the senate will approve the recovery program in about the form voted by the foreign relations committee—after 10 days or two weeks of debate.

Vandenberg said he has no quarrel with those who disagree with the plan to make American funds available over a 52-month period to aid European nations rebuild.

'But I am bound to say to those who disagree that they have not escaped to safety by rejecting or subverting this plan," he said. "They have simply fled to other risks and, I fear, far greater ones."

Aimed To Prevent War

The plan, he said, "strives to help stop World War III before it starts," adding:

"It fights the economic chaos which would precipitate far-flung disintegration. It sustains western civilization. It means to take western Europe completely off the American dole at the end of the adventure.

LOS ANGELES, March 1—An earthquake of moderate intensity awakened residents throughout a pie-shaped belt of southern California early today but apparently caused no damage.

It's greatest force was felt in the San Bernardino valley, 40 to 60 miles east of Los Angeles.

The quake was felt at 12:13 a. m. (Pacific standard time) with an aftershock a minute later.

The tremor, which shook homes and rattled windows, was the second in 12 days. A severe quake jolted the Los Angeles area Feb. 19.

Identical Twins, One Who Was War Prisoner With Marion Man, To Speak Here Tuesday

Guest speakers for a dinner meeting of the Marion Area chapter, Reserve Officers association Tuesday night at Hotel Harding will be identical twin brothers, both colonels from Patterson Field, Dayton. They are Col. Marvin McKnickie, in charge of the engineering laboratory at Wright Field and Col. Melvin McKnickie now in charge of electronics at the Field. Business will include nomination of officers for the coming year and there will be a report on the winter council meeting of the Department of Ohio, Reserve Officers association.

Any officer of the Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force who is on reserve status is invited to attend. Reservations are to be made with Virgil Dye at Hotel Harding. The dinner will be at 7 o'clock.

To Show Combat Films

In addition to the talks the officers will have with them some war department combat films and movies of recent developments in the armed forces. They are close friends of David Pollak of West Center street who served as a lieutenant in World War II.

The brothers, natives of Doland, S. D., graduated together from the University of South Dakota and entered air-cadet training in 1936. Their first separation came when Col. Melvin McKnickie was stricken with appendicitis and was forced to drop back several classes. In May, 1941, Melvin was sent to England for three months' temporary duty as a special observer of the war, in which the United States was not yet engaged. He returned home four years and 19 days later.

By July, 1943, after service with the Embassy, Theater Headquarters, Eighth Air Force Headquarters and Fighter Training school he was commanding a fighter group scheduled to escort B-17's over Kassel, Germany, on one of the first long-range P-47 missions.

Taken Prisoner of War

Shot down over Holland Col. Melvin was turned over to the Germans when a Dutch doctor, because of lack of equipment, was unable to give other than first aid for his injuries. He was sent to a German prison camp where he joined Mr. Pollak, pilot of a bombing plane, who had been taken prisoner. The two spent 21 months in prison camps, being liberated by units of the Third Army on April 29, 1945.

Col. Marvin didn't join his brother in England until June, 1942, but was one of the first Americans to fly in combat against the Germans. Flying a Spitfire he took part in the Dieppe raid, then, in October, 1942, was transferred to Gibraltar prior to the North African invasion. As deputy group commander of the 31st fighter group, he participated in the North African, Corsican and Sicilian campaign. In April, 1944, he returned to this country assigned to the joint war plans committee of the joint chiefs of staff in Washington. He remained there until January, 1946, when he received his Wright Field post.

30 Farmers Attend Woodland Demonstration

Some 30 cooperating farmers attended the woodland management meeting sponsored by the conservation department at Pleasant school Friday afternoon. E. V. Jotter, forester of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service was the main speaker.

Timber measurement, the rate of growth, advantages of protecting timber against fire and pasturing, and the yearly income per acre of woods to the farmer were discussed.

Rainy weather forced the group to hold an indoor meeting in Pleasant school. The group had originally planned a field trip through the Robert Seiter woods.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

UNSELFISH USE OF POWER

St. John 11:44. "Loose him and let him go."

TWO MEN were driving along the highway—one the physician and the other the pastor. They were to make the last call upon a man who was dying, and that man was needed so much. Ten children—the husband and father the only support.

Hunger and cold and privation faced that little brood. The doctor gave all the relief that science could bring. The pastor steps up for the last ministry. But lo! a modern miracle happens. Tears fall from the eyes of the pastor—one, two, until 10 had fallen.

The sick man arose immediately. Completely cured of his malady! Ten years had been added to his life. But lo! the pastor entered the room young and vigorous. His hair has turned white. His shoulders stooped and his step unsteady. Life had gone from the great pastor to the dying man and the dying man had new life—

This is but a story—invented, imaginative but true. If some live others cannot save themselves. It is but a repetition of the story of the Master. "Save others Himself He cannot save."

Each Lenten season this apparent tragedy of our Lord becomes the world's undying challenge to give unselfishly for others.

DR. VINTON E. BUSLER,

Pastor, Epworth Methodist Church.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

If Kidney Is Acutely Inflamed

After the acute phase of a disease has passed it often leaves behind it permanent damage which will prove a disability for the patient as long as he lives.

This is never more true than where acute inflammation of the kidney is concerned. If chronic inflammation of the kidney is to be prevented, this acute stage must be recognized early and treated.

Unfortunately, in many instances this disorder starts gradually and, in mild cases, may even pass unnoticed. In most of those affected, however, there are certain symptoms to put the patient and his doctor on guard, such as slight fever, some pallor, weakness and edema, or puffiness due to retention of water in the tissues.

In any case where there is doubt, examination of the urine will reveal the true nature of the trouble because the urine contains albumin, red blood cells, and casts, which are molds of the tiny tubule in the kidney. A rise in the blood pressure is also often present.

In most cases, recovery occurs within a period of six weeks. In those cases in which high blood pressure is present, the outlook for the patient is not so good. A test, known as the sedimentation test, often is helpful in determining the progress of the condition. This test is made by determining the speed with which the red cells settle out of the blood. If the kidney condition is becoming worse, the sedimentation rate is more rapid.

If acute nephritis is of the mild type, the proper treatment of the condition in its early stages is most important. This treatment consists in controlling the high blood pressure and the action of the kidneys. To control the high blood pressure, some physicians use injections of magnesium sulphate in a glucose solution, given twice a day into a vein. Sedatives or quieting drugs may also be employed.

The diet should be limited during the first few days to about a pint and a half of sweetened fruit juice. An equal amount of milk may also be employed in place of the fruit juice. If the patient cannot take sufficient fluid by mouth, it will be given by injection into a vein.

After the acute or dangerous phase of the disease is over, the patient is kept at complete rest in bed until the kidney has healed. The diet should be regulated and should contain enough protein, but not too much, with the elimination of salt insofar as that is possible.

Questions and Answers

M. B.: I had a stroke about three years ago. Ever since I have had a steady buzzing in my ear. Was the stroke the cause of this?

Answer: The stroke may have been a contributory cause for the buzzing in your ear.

Ringing in the ear is due to a number of causes, such as anemia, kidney disease, or accumulation of wax in the ear, as well as an infection in the tube connecting the ear with the mouth.

It is suggested that you have a physician make a thorough study of your case.

Miss Any Deductions
laking Your Tax Return

ES MARLOW
Press Writer

ON, March 1—You
ney by watching
s in filing your 1947

ut many expenses business—from your before it's taxable.
ne is tax-exempt and doesn't have to be reported at all.

James Marlow

The size of the deductions will decide for many people the kind of income tax form they use.

But you have no choice in the form if your income was $5,000 or over. In that case you must use the 1040 long-form.

If you have to use the 1040 long-form, because your income was $5,000 or more, then:

1. You can take the standard $500 deduction allowed everyone, even though your deductible expenses are not that much. You don't have to itemize any of that $500. Just take it. Or—

2. If your deductible expenses were over $500, you can claim them all but must itemize them all.

1. You can file on form W-2, the withholding statement, or on the 1040 short-form. With both you're automatically allowed 10 per cent deduction for expenses. No questions asked. The 10 per cent already has been allowed for in the tax-table used with those two forms.

2. If your deductions were really more than 10 per cent of your under-$5,000 income — most people's aren't—you can use the 1040 long form. There you can claim your deductible expenses in full but you'll have to itemize them and work out your own tax.

HERE'S INCOME that doesn't have to be reported because it's tax-free:

Life insurance paid because of the death of the insured: inheritance, gifts, or bequests of money or property, although the income from them is taxable; sickness and injury benefits received through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation laws: unemployment compensation; social security benefits.

Here's tax-free income of servicemen and veterans:

Mustering out pay; monthly government allowances to families of servicemen; state bonuses to veterans; all benefits under the GI bill of rights, such as for education and subsistence; disability pay; disability retirement pay for service-connected disability; allowances for uniforms; subsistence, traveling, quarters; pensions to veterans or their families for war services.

If you have questions about annuities, ask your internal revenue collector. They're too complicated to go into here.

Here are expenses that can be deducted:

Contributions to charitable, religious, scientific, fraternal and veterans organizations, and non-profit educational institutions. The total of them can't exceed 15 per cent of income and can't be made to individuals.

HERE ARE MORE: State income and personal property and real estate taxes except taxes which, like paving assessments, tend to increase the value of your property.

HERE ARE MORE: Sales tax (if tax is shown separately on price tag); property losses from fire, theft, storm, auto accidents; a special $500 deduction for the blind; use of your car for business, which includes the cost of gasoline, oil, grease, repairs, cleaning; state gasoline taxes, except in Alabama, California, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Utah and Wyoming; the cost of automobile license plates; union dues; entertaining for business purposes; subscription to professional journals; books, newspapers, and magazines bought for use in your profession; equipment, tools and instruments used on your job; cost of work clothes and uniforms when not taking the place of ordinary clothing; and alimony (the husband who pays it can deduct but the wife who receives it must report it as part of her income).

You can't deduct the following federal taxes unless paid for business purposes: the tax on admissions to theaters and sporting events, club dues, telephone and telegraph services; and transportation, such as railroad and bus fares.

You can't deduct the federal tax on jewelry, furs, cosmetics.

You can't deduct the tax on estates, inheritances or gifts imposed by the government, states, or cities.

WHAT OF DEDUCTIONS for medical, hospital and dental expenses? Up to 5 per cent of your income they're not deductible. After that

They are but—they're limited to $1,250 if you file a return for yourself only, or $2,500 if you claim more than one exemption. For example:

Your income was $7,000. Five per cent of that is $350. Your medical expenses were $1,000. Subtract the $350 from the $1,000. That leaves you $650 to deduct from your income, before it's taxed, as medical expenses.

MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1948

It's Red Cross Time

TODAY Marion county joins with the rest of the country in launching the annual Red Cross fund campaign and a large corps of volunteer solicitors is starting out to raise the county's quota.

The amount set as the minimum for Marion county is $25,985, a figure that is small in comparison with the magnitude and vital importance of the service for which the money will be used. There is every reason to believe that this community will speedily contribute not only its alloted quota but go beyond it.

Of the amount raised in the county, 54 per cent will remain to finance local community services and the other 46 per cent will go to the national organization to help pay for the tremendous work it does on a nationwide scale.

The Red Cross is the one agency upon which the country depends to meet emergencies and to minister to human needs when the needs are most urgent. When disaster strikes, whether fire or flood, hurricane or tornado, or other catastrophe, the Red Cross is there, sheltering the homeless, feeding the hungry and providing nursing care for the injured.

President Truman said it well when he spoke these words: "Many times a year the people turn to the Red Cross. Once a year the Red Cross turns to the people."

Let those of us who are fortunate enough to be on the giving rather than the receiving end remember that it takes more dollars today to do a job equal to that of former years. So when the volunteer solicitor calls, respond cheerfully, promptly, liberally.

Remember that this year no contributions are being taken at places of employment. You are asked to "give where you live." Talk it over at home, decide how much your contribution is to be, and have it ready when the solicitor calls at your door.

End of the Myth

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HARRIMAN gets credit for ending the wartime myth of official compatibility between the United States and Russian government. "There are aggressive forces in the world coming from the Soviet Union which are just as destructive in their effect on the world and our own way of life as Hitler was," he has said in a congressional hearing. He added that they are a greater menace, in his opinion, than Hitler was. That, of course, is debatable.

The fact is that public opinion in the United States never condoned the Russian government, even during the war. It was sympathetic to the Russian people, who fought valiantly to drive out the invading Germans. The fatuous postwar reasoning that the Nazis somehow must have been better than the Communists because the latter now are belligerent is the kind of error that traps people who want to believe everything is a clear choice between right and wrong.

Wartime support of Russia was not a choice between right and wrong. It was an expedient policy for defeating the stronger of two powers, both of which were unfriendly to the United States before war began. The Russian government, too, was following an expedient policy, insofar as it pretended to be friendly. The myth of friendship has done great mischief; it never was true. Americans did not subscribe to the Communist dictatorship; they subscribed only to the proposition that Hitlerism had to be squelched by helping the Russian people drive out the invading Germans.

The Falklands Fuss

BECAUSE the United Nations has failed to establish its authority in the world community, Argentina and Chile are making passes at the British-owned Falkland islands, 25 miles east of Cape Horn.

London has proposed that the UN rule on claims to the Falklands but Argentina and Chile have refused, either because their case is weak or because they believe Britain is groggy enough to be shoved around. The Falklands case is outside the provisions of the inter-American defense agreement, but our state department is prayerfully hoping the issue can be settled amicably. Our interest in the Falklands is strategic as long as they are held by a friendly power we are satisfied.

The Falklands claims must be considered as part of a larger matter—the problem of who owns what in Antarctica. The Falklands, the South Orkneys and the other flyspeck islands of the south Atlantic control the approaches to Antarctica and the mineral riches it may or may not contain. Britain sometime ago suggested an international conference to clear up Antarctic claims. The current naval maneuvers around the Falklands may bring that conference nearer.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

It's a Wonderful Time If You're Not Tired.

WOODROW WILSON, in pursuit of the principle of self-determination and in defense of small nations, created a number of independent states, among them Czechoslovakia. Not a one of them is an independent state today. The last to die was Czechoslovakia. It is now a nation no more. It shall within days be a part of the Cominform, the successor to the Third International. Stalin dances on Wilson's grave and two wars have been fought for nothing.

SOKOLSKY

The amazing callousness of the human race is best expressed in the present attitude toward Czechoslovakia. Munich in 1938 shocked the conscience of mankind and Munich itself became a byword. But Hitler was not without apologies. In a famous message to President Roosevelt, Hitler wrote.

"I am convinced, Mr. President, that, when you review the whole development of the Sudeten German problem from its beginnings down to the present day, you will recognize that the German government has in truth failed neither in patience nor in its honest wish for a peaceful understanding . . ."

No Apologies

There are no apologies today, although the theft is as complete as Hitler ever planned it to be or ever achieved. And the theft is imperialistically accomplished while the security council of the United Nations is actually in session. Perhaps it was timed that way to display total contempt for this body. And it is a successful theft, generally condoned by a world weary of duplicity and war. Hitler even spoke with gentleness—perhaps mock gentleness—perhaps sarcastic gentleness to Benes:

". . . I have made Mr. Benes an offer which is nothing but the carrying into effect of what he himself has promised. The decision now lies in his hands; Peace or war! He will either accept this offer and now at last give to the Germans their freedom or we will go and fetch this freedom for ourselves . . ."

Stalin Has Own Method

Stalin tries no such heraldry before besieged walls. He puts his vast international network of spies, Quislings, madmen, sadists to work undermining a government, destroying the soul of a people; and when they are so weakened that they cannot even defend their honor, he takes them over, always using perverted natives to perform his task.

And these perverted natives are always and everywhere available to do his miserable work, for there is power and a career in his service. Some are idealists who look forward to a federation of the world on a Marxian basis. Such recognize that in any vast revolutionary movement, it is essential to have a headquarters and unified direction. Therefore, they accept orders from the Kremlin.

Others are Socialists who believe that they can move by half-steps, that they can accomplish a Marxist or even a Fabian Socialist program without the Communists or in a temporary alliance with them. Desperate to put through their program, they often resort to coercion, to force, to the methods the Communists use more efficiently. In the end, the Communists take over. That has now happened in Czechoslovakia; it will happen elsewhere.

They "Sit High" Now

Others are careerists and opportunists. This is particularly true of the non-Communists: Socialists, the fellow-travelers, the associates of the Communists, who front for them, who pave the way for them, who open the gates to let them in. Every country, except those already absorbed by Russia, is full of them. In the Russian-controlled countries, they are curbed. Here in the United States, they are more numerous and more dangerous than the Communists. They spearhead the Kremlin's fight. That was equally true in Czechoslovakia. The Socialists have given Stalin the semblance of legitimacy. Next month or next year, he will purge them, but for the moment, they sit high—and enjoy it.

What is the world going to do about it? Nothing much. Soon Finland and Austria will go. Then will come the great struggle for Italy. When Italy goes, Europe goes. For who holds Rome, holds the fountainhead of western civilization. However, one needs to have a conscience and a knowledge of history to grasp the consequences of the fall of Czechoslovakia.

But the world is so tired. Everybody is so tired. It is a wonderful time for those who are not tired.

To Unseat Our Chairborne Forces?

Michigan's Representative Albert Engel has spoken out against the Army's plan to purchase 161,172 padded chairs for officers.

The Gentleman from Michigan seems to be one of those citizens who places great store by a standing Army.

If he has his way, military service will be broadening . . . but only in the cultural sense.

Before he objected, the Army reportedly was considering a fancy, upholstered chair. And one can believe it. After all, one of the first principles of military tactics is always carefully to protect one's rear.

Now that Rep. Engel has raised his voice in indignation however an all-metal model, at $9.45, has been decided upon. Obviously, the emphasis now is on over-head rather than underseat.

Rep. Engel is correct, of course: you can't man the ramparts in rocking chairs. If our military leaders must rest, let it be on their laurels.

Indeed, if they must have it soft, they can do like congressmen and bring their own padding.

The Foundations Crumble

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

FOR the first time, practical southern politicians are talking seriously about the end of the one-party system in the south. This is, of course, the result of the southern rebellion against President Truman, and more particularly of the rebellion's by-product, the Virginia bill allowing the state's representatives in the electoral college to cast their ballots as they choose.

The resurrection of this antiquated Constitutional device will allow southerners to express both sides of their politically split personalities. They will be able to continue to vote as Democrats, yet to avoid assisting in the election of the Democratic party's national candidates.

The trick is simple, and it is already appealing to conservative southerners outside Virginia. South Carolina and Mississippi are definitely expected to pass bills of their own on the Virginia model. This holds out the pretty definite likelihood that Truman will lose the 28 electoral college votes represented by Virginia. The number is not great, compared to the 531-vote total of the electoral college. Yet it is quite enough to decide a close election. And it is also possible that other southern states will follow the Virginian road.

Truman Margin Narrow

In short, the development has very great significance, both long and short range. The short-range significance lies, of course, in the effects on the coming election previously outlined. With Wallace in the race, with his Palestine policy haunting him like a cruel ghost, there is no doubt that Truman is done for if he loses anything in the south. Losses in the south are now quite probable. The foundations of Truman's strength have crumbled, and that is all there is to it.

Furthermore, even if the present movement is headed off, and the southern electoral votes are in the end all racked up for Truman, there are still other dangers to overcome. It has already been published that Senator Harry F. Byrd, after first expressing distaste, has now become inclined to let his name be presented as a presidential candidate. Besides Byrd, moreover, there is Senator Walter F. George, who would command even wider southern support. He is also giving signs of willingness to let himself be proposed to the Democratic convention.

As far as the convention is concerned, the southern strategy will be to send uncommitted delegations, and to fight initially for a weasel-worded civil rights plank. The President's political representatives were at first inclined to concede such a plank in order to pacify the southern rebels. But Truman balked at swallowing every word he had said on the subject of civil rights. The southern governors were turned away empty-handed when they called on the chairman of the Democratic national committee, Senator J. Howard McGrath. Now, therefore, the southerners are more likely to be driven to the second stage of their convention plan, which is to nominate George or Byrd or both as rivals to Truman.

Events are almost certain to intensify the south's itch to make trouble at the convention, and to go through, thereafter, with the Virginia scheme for depriving Truman of southern electoral votes. The fair employment practices, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills will all shortly come up for senate votes. They will pass if the senate applies cloture to halt filibusters. On the last test, on the FEPC, cloture was defeated in the senate by a vote of only 39 to 33, with six Republicans, Senators Bridges, Guerney, Millikin, Moore, White and Young voting against, and Hawkes and Bushfield paired against it.

This year, the election and the temptation to make trouble for Truman are powerful persuaders to induce these anti-cloture Republican senators to change their votes. Enough switches are expected among them to pass at least anti-poll tax bill, probably the FEPC, and possibly the anti-lynching bill. Passage of these three pieces of legislation will drive the southern white supremacy shouters to extremes of every kind, both of oratory and of action.

As to the long-range significance of the southern rebellion, that is also pretty obvious. The new violence of the white supremacy shouters has in it a note of fear. Industrialization, agricultural diversification and the mechanical cotton picker are, in fact, already threatening the old southern order which produced the Georges and McKellars, Byrds and Overtons. In the house, especially, a sprinkling of progressive southerners has already appeared.

The Virginia bill returning to the state Presidential electors the right of free choice which the Constitution originally intended for them may simply hurt Truman at first. But it will also have the long-range effect of separating the forward looking and backward looking southerners into two different political parties. This is really now almost inevitable at

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, March 1, 1938.

The March lion gamboled in a sun-bathed Marion but in other sections of the country the March lion roared. The official reading at noon stood at 50 degrees, 12 degrees above the previous day's maximum and 14 degrees higher than on March 1, 1937.

B. E. Sergent of East Church street, chief clerk for the C. & O. railroad, was presented a diamond-studded 50-year pin from the president of the railroad in recognition of a half a century of service with the company.

The life of Madame Curie was reviewed by Mrs. Depew Head of Columbus on the program of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs at Central Christian church.

The eighth anniversary of the organization of Marion chapter, No. 22, D. A. V. was celebrated with a dinner at the Armory. Mrs. Mary Fout of Cleveland, department commander of the D. A. V. auxiliary, was a guest of honor.

Henry G. Mautz, 74, retired farmer, died at his home on Windsor street.

Prospect scored a 36-22 win over Claridon in the final consolation round which ended Marion county's tournament warfare at the Steam Shovel gym. The Prospect lineup included D. Baumgartner, Rl Jones, Baird, Long, Lauer, Fitts, Re. Jones, Solomon, R. Bumgarner and Ransome. On the Claridon squad were Sims, Winston, Fisher, Retterer, Ryan, Whipp, Klinefelter and Yager.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, March 1, 1928.

Tax funds amounting to $1,065,910, representing the semi-annual realty collection in Marion county, were distributed to the various sub-divisions from the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas.

Jesse H. Mason, Marion school superintendent, returned from Boston where he attended a meeting of the department of superintendents of the National Education association.

Harry Abbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Abbott of East Center street, returned from Los Angeles, Calif. where he spent the fall and winter months.

Appointments of C. D. Muttenbubler of Sandusky as manager of Hotel Harding was announced by Charles B. King, president of the hotel company. The appointment filled the vacancy created by the death of Charles T. Gauvey.

Swooping down on Marion motorists who had become careless about turning on parking lights in restricted districts and parking improperly, Marion police tagged 63 automobiles in various parts of the city.

Mrs. George Foes entertained the Bide-a-Wee Bridge club at her home on South Prospect street, complimenting Mrs. F. W. Boyer, a member of the club who was to leave soon for California to live.

Eisenhower Peoples Ideal

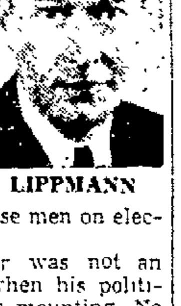
By Walter Lippmann

ALTHOUGH quite some time has passed since he withdrew and though his withdrawal must be taken as final, Gen. Eisenhower's extraordinary popularity in all the polls is still, I think, the most interesting commentary on this year's election.

The polls showed that as things stood in midwinter, in the early days of this session of congress and before the primaries, he would have been an easy winner over President Truman.

Senator Taft looked like a sure loser.

The odds were against Gov. Dewey and Mr. Stassen. But they were close enough to give them a fighting chance.



LIPPMANN

Senator Vandenberg's strength was not, it will be recalled, tested in these polls.

Now no one, least of all Mr. Gallup and Mr. Roper, would argue that these early polls were a forecast of the actual comparative strength of these men on election day.

Gen. Eisenhower was not an active candidate when his political popularity was mounting. No one will ever know what would have been the effect if he had become an active candidate.

Nor could the polls predict what the congressional session, the primaries and the conventions, the world situation and economic developments at home will do to the active candidates.

What these polls do show, I think, is that the country would like to replace the Truman administration, but that it is not yet sure that the Republican party is a safe replacement.

That is, it seems to me, what the Eisenhower boom meant.

War Record Not All

It cannot be explained entirely on the basis of his glorious achievements in the war, nor altogether, I believe, because he is the most lovable character in public life today.

These polls were measuring his strength as a theoretical candidate for president of the United States.

When they were taken there was no record of any kind, as there is in the case of President Truman, Gov. Dewey, Senator Taft, by which to form an estimate of him as a civilian executive or as a politician.

He himself said in his letter of withdrawal that his career as a professional soldier has not given him the experience or developed the qualities which are needed in a high civilian office. The modesty of his nature may have caused him to underestimate himself.

Be that as it may, the boom attributed to him all the necessary qualifications, and it must be interpreted, I think, therefore as an expression of what the people are looking for.

They pinned their hopes and wishes upon Gen. Eisenhower, and created upon his engaging and invigorating personality the portrait of their ideal candidate.

It was the portrait of a man who had been outside the divisions and dissensions of party, section, class, sect, and would remain above them; able, therefore, to strike the chords of unity; an exponent not only of liberty, but also of fraternity; a conqueror without rancor or vainglory; a warrior who wanted peace; a strong man, and therefore unfrightened; a brave man, and therefore magnanimous; one around whom they could rally in confidence and with serenity.

Whether any man could fulfill these hopes and wishes is beside the point. The Eisenhower boom—if I have interpreted it at all correctly—disclosed the criteria, deep in the minds and hearts of our people, by which the uncommitted voters who will decide the election are judging the parties and the candidates.

The ideal portrait of the president they are looking for may be as far from the reality of our politics as the pole star is from the earth.

Nevertheless, by it the course will be fixed and the progress of the contenders measured.

When this ideal standard is

Boy Makes Good in Phone Busine

The new president of the American Tele & Telephone Company succeeding Walter ford is a man whose name hasn't even noticed in a phone book. He is Leroy A Wilson, who gives to America one of thos from-the-bottom stories so annoying to bl of the American system. Wilson, heading of the largest companies in the world at 47, started in the phone business in Indiana as a traffic clerk.

PHILLIPS

His is one of those stories the American Magazine used to print before it decided they were old hat. He sold papers and worked at odd jobs as a kid; he got his first "position" operating a movie machine in his father's nicolodeon. (The double feature hadn't come in This saved him from being swept by the feeling of lethargy so fatal to the ambitions of modern youth.)

On Sunday he played the trumpet in Maple Street Methodist church back in Te Haute. Art Nehf presided at the organ. N went on to become a big league pitcher. F years Wilson used to think "Gee," it mus great to be a success like that!" Little di dream that after Nehf was all washed u would one day hear Fate, the ultimate um announcing "Attention, please! Roy—'spitba Wilson now going into the box for Walt 'L Gifford!'"

His choir days were helpful. A trumpet pl in any church outfit gets so used to cr that he is thereafter peculiarly fitted for telephone business.

Master Wilson worked his way throug lege, part of the time on a telephone job; the after tried a dozen different lines and mately took a job with the Indiana Phone C pany as a traffic clerk in 1922. We don't k what a traffic clerk is but we assume he fellow who keeps the north and southb numbers from colliding with the east and bound busy signals.

He became traffic manager. When you from traffic clerk to traffic manager you d same work but its harder to dodge responsib. In 1927 Destiny got him on the wire and "New York wants you." The toll line connec weren't any too clear in those days either, s replied by singing "I hear you calling me."

* * *

It is doubtful whether things would turned out the same if he had played it on trumpet.

New York was evidently his oyster, ev telephone exchange is no place for oy openers.

Every phone company traffic clerk in Ame looks happier, every manager has a jaunt step and even central seems a little more ho ful. Who says there are no more frontiers?

Moral: Trumpet or no trumpet, there is music like the dialtone.

Feb. 29 Birthdays Marked In Caledonia and Marion

Two more Feb. 29 Leap year birthday celebrations were received in news reports to The Star today.

A young daughter of Caledonia residents, born Feb. 29, 1944, had her "first" birthday celebration Sunday, and among those helping her celebrate was a sister who, though born two years later, can boast of more birthday anniversaries.

The girls are Liddien Louise Baer, the celebrant, and Virginia Kay Baer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Baer. They have two brothers, John E. Baer Jr., 7, and Charles Frederick Baer, 6. A family dinner was held at the Baer home Sunday.

The youngest child may "boast" of her more numerous birthday for a few years, but her sister will have a distinct advantage when the two young ladies reach that certain age when most women prefer to forget the number of their birthday anniversaries. The other children's birthday anniversaries are, in order, Nov. 12, Jan. 16, and March 5.

Joining with the parents and brothers and sister of the celebrant to wish her "many happy returns of the day" were grandparents and families, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haines and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Packer and daughter, all of Marion, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baer and daughter of Caledonia.

To celebrate the Feb. 29 birthday anniversary of Miss Ethel Hamilton of 316 Olney avenue Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Nickoson and daughter, Helen, and Charles Johnson, all of Cleveland, gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Maskill at the Olney avenue address. Mrs. Nickoson and Mrs. Maskill are sisters of the celebrant.

Mt. Gilead Man Named Hydraulic Chairman

MT. GILEAD, March 1—Dr. G. B. Robinson of Mt. Gilead was named chairman of the board when newly elected directors of the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. met in Mt. Gilead recently.

Still unnamed is a president to succeed Col. Harry A. Toulmin of Dayton who resigned from that position last fall.

Other officers named are: Paul Pocock of Marion, executive vice president; E. J. McSweeney of Marion, vice president in charge of manufacturing; Warren R. Tucker of Mt. Gilead, vice president in charge of research and engineering; W. C. Batchelor of Mt. Gilead, secretary, and George Daniels, assistant secretary.

Present directors with one exception were reelected. Lewis K. Newall of Chicago, president of the Magar Home Products, Inc., there, was named to succeed Warren Tucker. Directors reelected are: Dr. Robinson, Walter G. Tucker of Chicago, Mr. Pocock, Francis J. Wright of Columbus; Henry R. Talmage of Mansfield and Fred Fox of New York.

Woman Injured in Leap To Escape Intruder

By The Associated Press

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 1—Miss Anna Mary Deveter, 50, formerly of Findlay, O., suffered serious injuries yesterday leaping from a second floor apartment to escape an intruder.

Police Chief Oscar O. Blough identified Miss Devter as the former head of the Findlay college conservatory of music. He said a black leather pocketbook, containing about $500 and personal belongings was missing.

Two hours later, Blough reported, a man answering the description given by Miss Deveter broke into another apartment but ran out when Miss Audrey Stewart screamed.

BONUS

2, 1945. If commissioned after Sept. 2, 1945, only the discharge received as an enlisted man will be necessary, for inclusion with their bonus application form.

Assistance at Morral

Veterans residing in the vicinity of Morral may secure applications forms and assistance in their preparation from William Steen at the Morral Supply Co. daily, and evenings at his home.

Thousands of ex-GI's, Gobs, Marines and Wacs throughout Ohio, flocked to the distribution centers to pick up the forms, fill them out, and mail them in. Bonus Director Chester W. Goble repeated his promised payments will follow a first come, first served pattern.

But Goble refused today to guess when early applicants can expect their checks.

"It's too early to say right now because of the number of factors involved—such as how many forms we get in the first few days," he explained. "Probably all we'll be able to do the first few days is start filing claims."

Some 800,000 Ohio veterans are eligible for payments between the minimum $30 and maximum $400. The bonus is tax exempt since it is a "gift" from the state, not payment for service.

The state shipped 3,010,241 application forms to distributing points. It also sent along 1,064,637 pre-addressed envelopes to insure correct return mailing. Each county's supply was based on its own estimate of the number of World War II veterans within its limits.

Trucks hauled bonus forms from 22 key delivery centers yesterday. The applications were dropped off at distributing points, starting at 6 m. today.

The distributing points were designed, Goble said, to "greatly reduce any necessity of veterans waiting in long lines."

Judo Hold Saves Lima Veteran from Death

By International News Service

CHICAGO, March 1 — A 23-year-old Lima, O., veteran today credited his infantry-learned judo with saving his life.

The ex-sergeant, William McCracken, told Chicago police yesterday he was in a bus station washroom when he turned around and found a man pointing a gun at him.

"He had funny eyes and I felt certain he was going to kill me."

The Ohioan said he grabbed the gunman's arm with a bone-breaking judo hold, threw him in a corner and grabbed the weapon. He added:

"I could have shot him with his own gun, but he looked insane or maybe full of dope. And I couldn't kill a man like that."

McCracken turned the gun — fully-loaded .38—over to the police and boarded a bus for Colorado after the man fled.

"GRANDMA" GATES DIES IN REFORMATORY

By The Associated Press

MARYSVILLE, O., March 1—"Grandmother" Gates died yesterday in the Ohio women's reformatory.

The institution's oldest inmate was "such a sweet lovable soul" that fellow prisoners and attendants often found it difficult to realize she once led a gang that terrorized Darke county farmers.

Mrs. Laura Gates was 75 when a heart ailment claimed her life. She had been behind bars since Nov. 23, 1937.

Her son, Daniel Gates, a member of the gang, also died in prison. The third convicted member, Fred Glasgow, a hired man on the Gates farm near Greenville, still is in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus.

Reformatory records show the gang stole sheep, cattle and other livestock from Darke county farmers for several years. If a farmer reported his loss to authorities, his barn would be burned to the ground a few nights later.

Mrs. Gates eventually was convicted of arson. Her son and Glasgow, who met Mrs. Gates through a matrimonial agency, pleaded guilty to stealing and breaking and entering. Several other indictments against the gang were not pressed following the trio's conviction.

Mrs. Gates was convicted of setting fire to her home after investigators found furniture and doors were removed before it caught fire. She and Glasgow "rescued" Daniel from the blaze. But authorities believed, prison records showed, that Daniel was tied to his bed for the purpose of collecting insurance, and saved only because neighbors rushed to the fire.

For years Mrs. Gates had been "grandmother" at the prison.

"She was such a sweet lovable soul that we found it hard to believe all the things she was charged with," recalled Supt. Marguerite Reilley.

Wyandot Co. Scouts Hold Honor Court

A court of honor for the Wyandot district, Boy Scouts of America, was held Thursday night at Carey in the parish hall. Juvenile Judge Russell Kear of Upper Sandusky, chairman of the advancement committee of the Wyandot district, presided as chairman of the court, with Hugh F. Hay of Marion, Scout executive of the Harding Area Council, as secretary.

Forty Scouts received merit badges and higher rank awards. The presentation of the tenderfoot award was by Donald Fetter, member of the committee of Troop 13 of the Lutheran church at Carey, second class by Rev. Wade H. Koons, pastor of that church and a committee member, first class by Father Marcellus Lell of Troop 51 of Our Lady of Consolation church, Carey, merit badges by Robert Gardner, chairman of the committee of Troop 58, Methodist church at Carey, life award by Homer Robinson, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 13, and scribe, troop librarian, patrol and assistant patrol leader awards by Harry Fabiani, Scoutmaster of Troop 51.

The presentation of the charter and registration cards to Troop 51 was by Hugh Hay, who also gave a talk on advancement. The pledge of allegiance, led by Scout David Myers of Troop 51, opened the ceremony, and the Scout oath was led by Scout Robert Simonis, also of Troop 51.

A talk and movie on safety by Edward Adams of the farm bureau followed the presentation of awards.

RURAL AREA HOSPITAL EXPANSION IS URGED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 1—Liberalization of the federal hospital construction program was urged today to help rural areas provide better hospital service.

Joseph W. Fichter, master of the Ohio State Grange, told a state conference on rural health that the present program set up no funds for maintenance of hospitals after they were built.

"It will undoubtedly be difficult for many of the needy areas to give reasonable assurance that they will be able to operate their hospital even though they may be able to raise the initial funds for construction," Fichter, who is also a member of the federal hospital council, said in his prepared talk.

Fichter also declared that the present five-year program "would reach but a relatively small percentage of the total need."

"If the objectives of the act are to be reached," he said, "it is now clear that the duration of the program must be considerably extended."

"It has become apparent that all the answers are not known yet in regard to the planning and operation of hospitals and of hospital and health programs in general. Continued research is needed. . ."As a nation, we can afford to finance an adequate hospital and health program. The $75,000,000 a year provided under the present law is a small amount compared to the $200,000,000,000 which we spent in World War II for destructive purposes."

Marion has been earmarked under the federal hospital construction program for consideration as a rural area center, serving Marion county and several townships in adjoining counties in addition to the city.

City officials are studying the possibility of participating in the program which would include federal aid for construction of additional hospital facilities here.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

A LADY stargazer came up today with a few hot tips from the heavens on how Leap Year maidens can corral the right man.

"Girls born under the sign of the Ram—between March 21 and April 20—have a 50 per cent better chance of marrying in 1948," said Hellene Paul, professional astrologer.

"People are merely human radios for planetary vibrations, and girls born in that period are particularly fortunate in their vibrations this year."

Hal Boyle

Miss Paul, who predicted that 1947 would be a fine year for Joe Stalin, is plump, blonde and takes the zodiac seriously. She must have been born under a lucky star herself, as she does business in a snazzy penhouse apartment—where she can walk out on a terrace and check the visible planets without eyestrain.

"This is certainly the best year for girls born under the sign of Aries, the Ram, to catch a husband," said Miss Paul. But other girls needn't necessarily regard themselves os orphans of the zodiac," she added.

"Girls born under the signs of Gemini, Leo; Libra and Sagittarius also have good Leap Year chances," she said.

She said the surest bet was for a girl born under the sign of the Ram to set her sights on a bachelor with the same horoscope.

"However, since they both would be versatile, ambitious, independent people fond of having their own way," she said, "the marriage might end up in a head-on collision."

WHICH MEN SHOULD the girls concentrate on? Miss Paul ruffled through her celestial charts and produced this rating of 1948 bachelor prospects, based on their birth dates:

(1) ARIES, THE RAM men—pushovers for marriage, but they might be hard to live with.

(2) TAURUS, THE BULL men (April 21 to May 21)—poor. This year they'll be worried and afraid to take on new responsibilities.

(3) GEMINI, the twin men (May 22 to June 21)—Marry one of these if you want a fur coat, girls. They're generous and scheduled to spend plenty in 1948.

(4) CANCER, THE CRAB OR ULCER men (June 22 to July 23)—thumbs down. They're shy this season, and wary because of their feeling of responsibility to their relatives. (Marry one and his whole family may move in on you.)

(5) LEO, THE LION men (July 24 to Aug. 23)—wide open. They probably will also make a lot of dough.

(6) VIRGO, THE VIRGIN men (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)—Bad. They're in a conservative mood and fret about details. Probably criticize everything you wore.

(7) LIBRA, THE BALANCE men (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23—Very good. They're romantic, welcome a change, and their future is paved with dollars.

(8) SCORPIO, THE SCORPION men (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)—Not so good. They're torrid lovers but they're hard to get and awfully money-conscious because they aren't making as much as they did last year.

(9) SAGITTARIUS THE ARCHER Men (Nov. 24 to Dec. 22)—Wonderful field here. They're optimistic and successful.

(10) CAPRICORN, THE GOAT men (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20)—Try them after 1948. Now they're hard to get, conservative and economical.

(11) AQUARIUS, THE WATER-POURING men (Jan. 21 to Feb. 20)—A good bet. They're unconventional lovers in their approach but don't mind marrying an older girl.

(12) PISCES, THE FISH men Feb. 21 to March 20)—The easiest of all to get, moody and sensitive, but they make wonderful husbands if you praise them constantly and never criticize them.

I can testify personally, girls, that Miss Paul is correct about Pisces, the Fish men. My wife is married to one—and says you just can't beat them.

And what about Joe Stalin in 1948?

"Unfortunately it's going to be a wonderful year for him again," sighed Miss Paul. "Nobody's going to stop him. He's going to get away with murder—absolute murder. Look what he's got away with already—And here it is only March."

KENTON—The Hardin county Farmers club today had instituted the organization of a Farm Safety Program in the county. Club president, Rowe Littleton, has been instructed to appoint a committee to set up the program. The aim is to educate people to be more careful on the farm in the operation of farm machinery, and to be more alert to dangers on the farm and in the home.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FOR a half second following my call and my knock on the door of the rooms occupied by Jim and Katie, there was no response. But the second of Katie's sobs and laughter stopped as quickly as if she had been throttled, another proof to me, if I needed one, that her hysterics were "strictly from phony."

Then a genuine scream tore from her throat, and I heard her fling herself from the bed and dash for the door.

"My Missis Graham, oh, my Missis Graham," she wailed. "Why you treat your poor loling Katie so bad? You poor feesh take your hands away from me!"

The last words were an angry shriek instead of a wailing one, and I knew they were addressed to her long-suffering husband.

"Get back into this bed," I heard Jim say in the quiet, obstinate tones he rarely uses, but which Katie has learned the futility of disobeying. "I'll not let Mrs. Graham in until you do."

"Okay, but I'll feex you for dees," Katie shrilled.

"Shut up, or I won't turn the key," Jim said, and Katie choked back her next vilification.

There was silence for another half-second, then I heard the key turning in the lock. When Jim opened the door I could have strangled Katie cheerfully for the humiliation in his eyes and in his lined face.

"Don't feel bad, Jim!" I adjured him. "We've both known Katie a long time, and I understand this perfectly. I know, also, that you are not in the least to blame for this. Mrs. Ticer told me how you tried to stop this tantrum."

Purposely, I had brought the name of Katie's hated neighbor and rival, as she considered her, into the conversation. I wanted all the irons in the fire and red hot, before I started to cool them.

"Dot fool no-goot Meesis Ticer!" Katie shrilled from the bed. "Ees she down does tair? Me—I'll"

Jim started toward her, but I stopped him, standing so that I could keep one eye on Katie.

"Will you please go down stairs and see if Mr. 'K.' and King Georges need anything?" I said, and from beneath my lowered eyelashes saw Katie's face contort in an astonished grimace.

She had been so thrilled at the presence of royalty in our home in that long ago time when Princess Olina and Noel Veritzen, together with Mary Harrison, Dicky's niece, and Prince Georges, of Trees, now fugitive King Georges, formed what Dicky called the "international romantic quartet." Now Noel and Mary were married, and the wedding of George and Olina soon was to be solemnized secretly in the farmhouse, although Katie knew nothing of that last development. But I was sure that the very ends of her nerves were thrilled, not only by the presence of Georges, but by that of Mr. "K.," the FBI man, whose eminence as a "big detecatuff," she reveres. I knew that still fresh in his mind was the amused memory of Katie proudly displaying to him her "diploma" from her "correspondence detecatuff school."

Not to serve the delicious dinner she had prepared to such guests, would be a punishment comparable only to submitting her to physical torture, and I knew that I held all the weapons necessary for my contest of wills with her. But I let no hint of that knowledge appear, as I locked the door after Jim, and then, walking over to the bed looked down at her.

I could not see her face for she covered it with her hands. I spoke in my sternest voice.

"Katie, I am afraid this is the end. I have endured many tantrums from you, but this is the first time you ever have failed me when I was on a most important mission for my father. He expects me to start back from here in two hours, and instead of your meeting me at the door as I expected, with the news that dinner was almost ready for us, I find you up here in a temper fit."

Her hands were flung from her face now, and she was struggling upward, clutching at my gown, striving for speech. But I drew my dress back from her hands and spoke even more sternly.

"I shall be sorry to lose Jim," I said. "He still can come to work for us if you live somewhere else. But, Katie, can you give me any reason why I should not tell you to go away from the farmhouse, and never come back to work for me again?"

translated into practical politics, it will take a much less exalted form.

The Eisenhower boom showed eloquently how gladly the people would put an end to the Truman administration if only they could be convinced that the alternative would not be worse

This may sound like a strange way to put the situation.

But the situation is very strange, owing, as I think I may be able to show in succeeding articles, to the altogether abnormal circumstances of Roosevelt's fourth election.

Accordingly I cabled Ambassador Harriman in Moscow on Sept. 18 Mentioning the voting question that had risen at the Dumbarton Oaks conference, I said that this along with other recent developments that Harriman had reported raised most serious doubts with regard to future long-range Soviet policy I added that I had begun to wonder whether Stalin and the Kremlin had determined to reserve their policy decided upon at Moscow and Tehran and to pursue a contrary course I therefore asked Harriman's estimate of the present trend of Soviet policy so that we might decide how to meet this possible change in Russian attitude

I STATED TO HARRIMAN that I would find particularly helpful his views as to the causes that had brought about this change in Soviet policy toward the United States and a hardening of Russia's attitude toward Great Britain

Harriman replied the following day, giving a number of instances of Russia's unilateral actions or apparent unwillingness to collaborate with Britain and the United States He said we had sufficient evidence to foresee that, if a world organization were established requiring agreement of all permanent members for the consideration of any dispute, regardless of whether or not one of them was involved, the Soviet government would ruthlessly block consideration by the council of any question that it considered affected its interests. The Soviet government would also insist that the matter be settled by the Soviet Union with the other country or countries involved particularly any disputes with her neighbors

Harriman stated his conviction that Stalin and his principal advisers placed the highest importance on the association of the Soviet Union in a major way with the three great Powers but they expected that their political and military strength would enable them to dictate the conditions. There was no doubt he said that the Russian people craved peace and had been led to believe that the intimate relationship developed with Britain and the United States during the war would continue after the war and guarantee a lasting peace

THE AMBASSADOR did not believe that Stalin could forego the material as well as the psychological value of this association without causing grave concern among the Russian people Nevertheless there were powerful elements close to Stalin who were unwilling to give up the right of independent action where Russia's interests were affected and to see Russia depend for her security solely on an untried world organization with associates whom these elements did not fully trust. Stalin he thought liked to have two strings to his bow and it did not appear inconsistent to the marshal to pursue simultaneously these two methods to obtain security for his country and to promote its national interests as he envisaged them

As I left office the policy I advocated toward Russia rested on two bases The first was Continue in constant friendly discussion with the Russians Consult them at every point Engage in no "cussin' matches with them Explain to them, again and again if necessary the principles upon which we felt peaceful international relations would prosper Show them as clearly as possible the superior advantages to Russia of wholehearted cooperation with other nations as compared with the minor advantages of predominance in neighboring states Make it clear to them that we did not object to a nation's preaching the merits of its form of government whether communism or democracy, but that we did object to a nation's interfering in the internal affairs of other nations.

AVERILL HARRIMAN

Our ambassador to Russia thought Stalin liked to have two strings to his bow."

I HOPED if my health permitted me to remain in office, to persuade Russia to adopt the policy of cooperation and non-intervention that prevailed in the Western Hemisphere and to make this a solid world policy to which all nations subscribed Under this Pan-American policy transplanted to Europe Russia could have the friendliest political relations and the liveliest economic exchanges with her neighbors while refraining from interfering in their internal affairs

The second premise of our policy toward Russia was By our own actions give Russia a concrete example of how we thought she should act Therefore I opposed the view of our joint chiefs of staff that the Pacific islands we would take from Japan should become United States property I felt strongly that there should be no exception to my view that all the colonial territories wrested from the Axis should be placed under United Nations trusteeship system It was not hard to see that Russia would not oppose our outright acquisition of these islands but it was not hard to see also that Russia would thereupon use this acquisition as an example and precedent for similar acquisitions by herself Our acquisition of these islands stopped us from objecting to similar acquisitions by other nations

Therefore I likewise opposed the project later put through in the Act of Chapultepec at the Mexico City Conference in March, 1945 after my resignation whereby the American republics agreed in effect to intervene militarily in any of their number in certain circumstances Once we had agreed to this new position on intervention Russia had more excuse to intervene in neighboring states, and we had less reason to oppose her doing so

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT and I saw alike with regard to Russia We both realized that the path of our relations would not be a carpet of flowers, but we also felt we could work with Russia There was no difference of opinion between us that I can recall on the basic premise that we must and could get along with the Soviet government

The President did not confer with me regarding any phase of his Yalta conference with Stalin and Churchill nor did I know of the concessions made there to Russia until they were published. Yalta was the only international conference attended by Mr Roosevelt when I was not in office. My views relating to the questions arising among the major nations were fully set forth in the state department records of conferences and conversations. As I left office I was still opposed to any change in the vote to be given Russia, any more than the vote for our own country. My view was that each major country possessed such powerful prestige and influence generally that it would have little difficulty in securing a full representation of its rights and interests at all times, without any need to have more than one vote

On the occasions when the President came to see me at the hospital after my resignation including his last visit only a few days before his death he said nothing to me about any fears he might have that Russia would abandon our cooperative movement for peace or would block or destroy it Since he and I had labored together since 1933 to bring about a better understanding with Russia, to say nothing of our joint efforts toward a peace organization, I am convinced he would have brought up the subject with me if he had reached the conclusion that Russia was pursuing a dangerous course

IT MIGHT BE SAID that the President and I were taken in by Russia's promises and written pledges that we should have realized it was impossible to do business with Soviet Russia, that we should have come to the conclusion that the democratic United States could not be friends with a government founded on Communism and consequently that we should have adopted the policy of the mailed fist toward Russia right from the beginning

But as we went back over our relations with Moscow I felt, and President Roosevelt did too, that there was ample reason for the policy of friendship that we adopted Since 1917 Russia had been wrestling with many nations that had refused to recognize her more or less on account of her policy of conducting subversive activities from Moscow By constant effort, she had gradually increased the number of recognitions, being obliged in connection with virtually all acts of recognition to agree not to practice subversive activities against the countries establishing relations with her

That she did not abandon these activities completely is a matter of record but it was our view that the other governments by steadily organizing and building up and strengthening world opinion against such activities would make as nearly certain as possible Russia's abandonment of this policy of interference in the affairs of other countries It is of record that the President and I had been at hammer and tongs with the Russian government many times during the years from the recognition in 1933 until we approached the Moscow conference in 1943 I never lost an occasion to point out to the Russians the advantage to themselves of abandoning their thorny policy of intervention.

THE PRESIDENT AND I were convinced that it was eminently to the self-interest of Russia to be a full-fledged member of the United Nations security organization and to cooperate wholeheartedly with it, and that the Russian leaders would recognize this fact We believed as I believe today that the United Nations would ultimately evolve into a unified effective organization thoroughly adequate to maintain the peace We recognized that there would be difficulties, that some of these would come from Russia and that the United Nations would have to pass through uncertain, delicate periods but we were certain by the end of 1944 that we and the nations working with us had laid the basis for a projected organization within which Russia and we could work together

In our relations with Russia the President and I also had constantly before us the emphatic advice of our military leaders given on several occasions that friendship with Russia after the war was vitally essential from their military point of view

A TOUGHER opponent than that Harding drew for the opening game of the Class A district basketball tournament probably couldn't be found . . . That's Columbus Central, winner of some 20 games and loser of but one in the regular season play . . . Nevertheless, the Prexies needn't be overawed by the Columbus powerhouse; they held the Pirates to 38 points the last time they met, but garnered only 26 for themselves . . . The tournament meeting is scheduled for Thursday night in the Columbus Fairgrounds Coliseum.

A MORE EXCITING, pulse-quickening basketball game than the St. Mary-Marysville title clash Friday has probably not been played on Ohio high school hardwoods this season . . . The only calm people who watched St. Mary take the game in an overtime, 52-49, were two or three babies who stared at all the commotion wide-eyed while their parents screamed bloody murder at the refs . . . The excitement of a game in which the lead changed 23 times and was tied five times was too much for one little girl who asked her mother when it went into an overtime "Oh, do they have to play some more? I wish it were over." . . . As the game waxed tenser in the closing moments the Marysville reserve coach became madder and madder at referee H. G. Mitchell and after the game was over, nearly tangled with him on the court . . . Mitchell, who has a temper too, was all set to tie into the coach, but the milling crowd separated the two in time to prevent the rhubarb.

COACH GENE FETTER and Father Spickerman of St. Mary go to Westerville today to participate in the drawings for the Central district Class B basketball tournament . . . They'll attend a dinner of coaches and school officials in the evening . . . They hope to draw, along with the officials of some 30 or 40 other schools, a weak opponent for the first game, and any team but Marysville . . . It is possible that the Irish and the Monarchs will meet at some stage of the tourney, but it would be too bad if two such good evenly-matched teams should lock horns in the first game . . . Incidentally, Fetter was as pleased with the turnout at the Marysville-St. Mary game as he was at the outcome, and has been happy at the backing from the fans St. Mary has received all season.

SEVERAL OF THE SENIORS on the Irish team have already made their after-high school plans . . . Dick Schuler will go to Dayton university, Dan Smith, John Baldauf and maybe Bob Stuber to John Carroll, Dick Drake, who would like to become a lawyer, hasn't decided on a school yet and may work a year before going on to college . . . Jim Moloney is undecided . . . Joe Maniaci may enter Ohio Northern . . . Incidentally several other Marion men thinking about Northern are Marion Angel gridders Max Roseberry, Ed Simmons, and Martin Lewis.

Schlairet, McMillen Set for Title Clash

Schlairet Transfer will meet McMillen Feeds in the second-round title clash tonight in the top game of the three-tilt wind-up of the Y.M.C.A. Monday night basketball league.

Schlairet, undefeated in the second round, will attempt to preserve their record against the winners of the first round. But no matter who wins tonight, a play-off contest will be held Wednesday.

If Schlairet wins, thereby taking the second round title, they'll meet McMillen, first round winners, for the league championship.

If McMillen wins, a second-round playoff will be necessitated since it will leave the league with double winners.

Caledonia Wins County Cage Tournament Championship

Donian Dead-Eyes Down Morral, 64-25; Pleasant Drops LaRue in Consolation

The Caledonia High school cagers won their second straight Marion county tournament with a great display of power on the New Bloomington floor Saturday night. Coach Thurman Wright's rangy crew of sharpshooters downed Morral 64 to 25 in the championship game with Gene Fleming, huge pivotman, racking up 26 points to outscore the entire Morral team.

In the consolation finals the Pleasant Townshippers also won third place for the second consecutive year by outpointing the hitless wonders of LaRue 36 to 27.

The two games were played before a packed house which started to gather in front of the New Bloomington school building at 11 a. m. The first tickets were sold at 1 p. m. and the house was packed at 5. Magazines, newspapers were read and card games took up the time before several preliminary games between youngsters entertained the overcrowded spectators. Many were turned away for lack of standing space.

Will Enter Tourney

As a result of the tournament, Caledonia, Morral and Pleasant will represent the county at the district tourney at Westerville this week. St. Mary, exempted from county tournament play will make a fourth team from the county in Westerville class B meet which starts Wednesday. Drawings for the tourney will be held in the Otterbein gym tonight.

While Coach Thurman Wright's powerful team was getting its bearings in the early moments of the championship game the Morral challengers put on a speedy spurt and led at the end of five minutes of play, 5 to 2, on goals by Jim Weston and Merl Hilborn and a foul toss by Dick Granlee. Caledonia counted on free throws by Kenneth Comstock and Jerry Jaggers. The champions finally got rolling to lead 12 to 7 at the first quarter on a pair of baskets by Gene Fleming, one each by John Robertson and Jaggers and a couple of charity tosses by Jaggers. Weston added a goal for Morral.

Fleming, giant center for the champs, continued on a basket barrage in the second quarter and sparked a drive that gave the Donians a 26 to 11 lead at the intermission. Comstock, the county's leading scorer, led the way in the third period to run the lead to 46 to 17. The Caledonia regulars watched the game from the bench in the first six minutes of the final sessions but came back in the last two minutes to give the crowd a last look at their power and scored 15 points against the demoralized Morral cagers as they gave the perspiring scorers a hectic two minutes.

Fleming Plays Best Game

Gene Fleming played his best tourney game in the championship match as he punished the cords for 12 baskets and two free throws for 26 points. Comstock was next with 17 points and Jerry Jaggers closed his efforts with 15. Jim Weston and Merl Hilborn led Morral with seven points each.

Pressing defensive tactics by Caledonia so disturbed the Morral ball handlers that they had trouble getting the ball over the 10-second line all during the game. Coach Norman Weston of Morral changed from a zone defense usually employed by the northsiders to a man-for-man, but hard driving by Comstock and Robertson plus the rebounding of Fleming along with an all around good game by Jaggers gave the champs 67 shots at the hoop and they converted on 26 of these attempts for an excellent 38 per cent average. Morral connected on only nine of 52 tries from the field but many of the attempts were from off-balance and at difficult angles.

LaRue Fails To Hit

In the consolation finals for third place LaRue outplayed the league-winning Pleasant and led in about every department except the important one of scoring points. The league champs were held to a minimum of 38 shots at the basket, many from difficult positions, but connected for 11 of these heaves and converted on 14 of 24 shots from the foul line.

LaRue obtained 45 shots from the floor and hit for a low of 20 per cent, getting nine goals. The losers hit on only nine of 21 foul shots.

Charles Mayers, high scoring Pleasant forward, was hottest for the winners and caged six field goals, mostly on the run, and added four free throws for 16 points. Harold Brocklesby LaRue center unable to connect with the basket, was held to eight points which was high for the losers. Midget forward Jack Millisor, "Mr. Five Foot Five," stood out for LaRue as he consistently stole the ball from the Pleasant guards. Jack collected seven points before fouling out in the final frame.

After the final game, C. D. Pilkington, Meeker superintendent and chairman of the county athletic commitee, presented the trophies. Besides Caledonia and Morral, tokens went to the Pleasant varsity and reserves for winning the league championship. The balls used during the tourney were given to Pleasant and LaRue for finishing third and fourth.

VIRGIL STALLCUP EYED AS REDS OPEN CAMP

Rookie Is Billed To Replace Eddie Miller at Shortstop.

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 1—Most eyes were peeled for Virgil Stallcup, much publicized shortstop, as the Cincinnati Reds trotted out on Plant Field to open the 1948 training season today.

The spectators also sought out Hank Sauer, big outfielder up for his fourth trial with the Reds after a sensational season with Syracuse of the International league in 1947.

Stallcup, 26-year-old, six-three rookie from Honea Path, S. C., is ticketed to fill Eddie Miller's shoes in the key infield spot.

Miller was sold to the Philadelphia Phils several weeks ago after blasting Cincinnati policies.

It was the consensus among the training camp crowd that all Stallcup has to do to nail down the job is make a creditable showing at bat against big-time pitching. Neun says he would be satisfied with a .250 average.

He hit .338 for Jersey City of the International league last year.

Husky Sauer—he's better than six-three, weighs 210—burned up the Triple-A International circuit last season with 50 homers, 141 runs batted in and a .336 average.

Only one member of the club's 38-player roster is unsigned. Still out of the fold is Johnny Vander Meer, veteran southpaw pitcher. Club President Giles refuses to tag Vander Meer a holdout but there are reports the Dutchman doesn't like a salary slash.

The club announced the signing of first baseman Babe Young yesterday.

EX-HI'S, ALL STARS WIN TOURNEY GAMES

PROSPECT, March 1 — Marseilles Ex-Hi and Prospect All-Stars defeated the Richwood Rangers and the Marion Knickerbockers Saturday night in the Prospect Invitational tournament by scores of 52-31 and 73-61 respectively.

Marseilles, showing exceptional teamwork and connecting with extreme accuracy on field shots, jumped to a 10-4 lead in the first quarter and were never in danger. Bob Bowers was the big gun for Marseilles with 19 points, while Cheney paced the Rangers with 10 points.

Prospect's All-Stars experienced some difficulty in stopping Bob Rieff, big 6 foot-five inch center of the Knickerbockers who flipped 16 points but managed to keep pace on 11 two-pointers and two charity throws made by their own high-scoring forward, Glen Kessler. The All-Stars took a 39-22 lead in the first half that was too much for the hardworking Knickerbockers to overcome although they did out-score the Stars in each of the last two frames.

Marseilles earned the right to play the winner of the Commercial Steel-Roxy Grill game which will be played next Friday night. The All-Stars will be idle next week, but will meet the winner of the Schlairet-Green Camp game the following week.

Friday night Ashley Independents will play Caledonia and Commercial will engage Roxy, first game to start at 7:30 p. m.

TRIBE OPENS SPRING TRAINING AT TUCSON

Greenberg Reports for Workout But Hasn't Signed.

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 1—The Cleveland Indians opened their seven-week spring training season here today at full strength and with most of the men near their best playing weights.

Manager Lou Boudreau had basic calisthentics, with lots of running, on the first day's program and thought he might start the pitchers loosening up tomorrow or Wednesday.

A drenching rain—a rarity in this high, dry area—greeted the Tribe yesterday afternoon and made the weather a main topic of conversation. The Indians have only five days to prepare for their opening exhibition game here Saturday with the New York Giants.

Perhaps the most "conditioned"—and certainly the center of his teammates' attention—was outfielder Pat Seerey; who has been working on a generous waistline since last November. Seerey, never less than 215 during his five years with the Indians, is down to 195.

Tribe President Bill Veeck, at whose advice and expense Seerey began his reducing in California last fall, greeted the infrequent slugger:

"Pat, I can't believe it. You look a little hungry. Have any trouble walking around?"

Seerey grinned, displayed seven new notches in his belt, and countered:

"I've not had a waistline like this since I was 14."

Late arrivals yesterday were Bob Feller, making his ninth spring training trip, and Hank Greenberg, who came in from nearby Phoenix with his wife.

Greenberg hasn't signed a contract yet, Veeck said, but will test his ailing right arm during Tribe workouts.

Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, the Cleveland Browns' stocky left halfback, arrived from Florida for a trial as a hurler. Jones does not plan to sign a contract unless he is to remain with the club. At 29 he figures he is too old to trek through the minors.

ANNOUNCE SEAL SALE

KENTON—Probate Judge Joseph E. Lady, chairman of the Hardin County Crippled Children's society, today announced that the 1948 sale of Easter seals will begin Monday, March 1.

Golden Glove Opener Only 2 Weeks Away

With the opening night just two weeks away, 95 entries have been received for the annual Golden Gloves tournament to be held March 15, 17 and 19 at the Marion Armory.

Mentioning the fact that a year ago only 60 boys had signed up by March 1 Joe Yannitel, tournament chairman, said that the 1948 fights will offer Marion boxing fans three nights of amateur gloves slinging never before equalled here.

The tourney, which is sponsored by the Y's Men's Service Club, is sanctioned by the A.A.U. This means that all fighters 16 years of age and older will be battling for the right to represent the Marion district in the state tournament scheduled for late March. Unusual interest has been stimulated throughout the entire country by the fact that the 48 state champions who meet in Boston will be fighting for Olympic boxing team berths as well as United States A.A.U. amateur crowns.

Jack Bray, publicity chairman, said that entries will probably be accepted up until the first night of the tourney but that fighters who have not yet signed should fill out and return their entry blank this week if at all possible.

Over the week-end six new boys have filed entries: Harry Brown, Delaware, Robert Millington, Richwood; Willard Carwile, Marion; and Jerome Ballenger, Marion—all paperweights; Thomas Boyle, Bucyrus, welterweight, and George Snively, a light heavyweight from Richwood.

Wooster Needs Win Over Kenyon To Sew Up Crown

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 1—Ohio's collegiate cagers play games this week in the season's big windup, but only one game—tonight's Wooster at Kenyon contest—has any bearing on the var championships.

Wooster's scintillating Scots have the all-games title all wrapped up, and Cincinnati's Bearcats have the Mid-American crown tucked away. Only the Ohio conference laurels are still in the muddled stage.

If Mose Hole's Scots grab the verdict over Kenyon's Lords, Wooster wins the Ohio loop title. But if the Kenyons, paced by high-scoring Eppa Rixey, upset the pace-setters, then Ohio Wesleyan's Battling Bishops will move into the king row.

Bishops Kicked Out

The Bishops were batted out of the top spot Saturday as they dropped a 38-33 verdict to Mount Union. Meanwhile Wooster raced to the peak with a 57-38 win over Oberlin.

Wooster has won 17 of 19 games in the all-contests category, and will stay up there no matter what occurs. In the Ohio loop the Scots have won 13 of 15—the losses to Ohio Wesleyan and Kent State coming on the foreign floors. Wesleyan is second with two defeats and nine conquests in the loop.

The Scot-Lord affair may be a scoring duel between Rixey, who has counted 506 points in 20 games, and Wooster's sophomore Earl Shaw, boasting 352 in 19 games—the best a Scot soph has ever done.

Cincy Wins Title

Cincinnati won the Mid-American championship by a country mile, clinching it with a 90-46 victory over Ohio U. Saturday. That gave the Bearcats a 7-2 record in the circuit, far ahead of the 4-2 mark hung up by second place Butler of Indianapolis.

Only one game remains in the Mid-American. Miami visiting last-place Western Reserve Saturday. Heaviest interest in that affair centers around Bob Brown, Miami's 6-6 center who needs only a point to tie the all-time record of 437 points he set a year ago. He scored 25 Saturday as the Redskins swamped Dayton 89 to 45.

Wittenberg's Lutherans were the hard-luck team last week. They averaged 71 points in a three-game set, but dropped two contests. Sixteen of the state's 39 college teams have completed the season's chores, and the others will be through next Mon night.

After winning only six of games against out-of-state op nents last week, the Buck squads boast 146 victories and losses in interstate play this season.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

MIAMI, Fla., March 1—Okay, now we can play baseball.

Coach Ray Blades figures the Bums have a good pitching prospect in John Hall, a rookie from Mobile who isn't even listed on the roster in the green book. . . . When Connie Mack, who has been suffering from a cold, drove from St. Petersburg to West Palm Beach and then stayed through the entire dog racing program, Coach Al Simmons came up with this highly original remark: "Mr. Mack is a remarkable man."

NOTRE DAME'S Frank Leahy who just ended a week's visit here, spent most of his time fishing, swimming and dodging folks who wanted to talk about football. . . . Chances are that citation, the Flamingo winner, will be given a rest and won't start more than once before the Wood Memorial. The other Calumet derby hopefuls will go to Kentucky when Ben and Jimmy Jones divide their forces. . . . Before he started north to raise the dough to pay off the bills for last week's Willie Pep-Humberto Sierra fight, promoter (Kay) Kantrowitz arranged an Orange Bowl "reservation" for another big fight next winter.

Michigan Resigned To Big 9 Rule on Bump

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 1—The Big Nine faculty ruling which dumped Charles (Bump) Elliott out of any more football playing for Michigan remained a lively campus topic today.

In general, however, Michigan accepted as a lost cause its hopes the star halfback would be permitted another season's play with the Big Nine and Rose Bowl champions.

Faculty representatives Saturday in Chicago declared Elliott ineligible for further college competition when the scholastic year ends in June.

Elliott is being sought by the Detroit Lions of the National Professional football league.

The ruling against Elliott was based on his playing for Purdue in 1943 and 1944 before his service in the armed forces.

The faculty committee decided Elliott had completed his allotment in playing for Michigan the latter part of the 1946 season and 1947. Bump returned from Marine service in 1946.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

JOSEPH E. CURRAN, born March 1, 1906, was a seaman in 1936 and led merchant sailors in a series of labor disputes. This resulted in founding the National Maritime Union which he heads. He is also vice president of the CIO and has been a leader in labor's Political Action Committee. Native of New York's East Side, he went to sea in 1922, became a union member in 1935. In recent months he has fought what he calls Communist influences in his union.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Sympathy should be extended to people who have been touching up their hair just when they could start touching up Louisiana for $50 a month.

* * *

Gov.-elect Long promises cash to poor old gray-haired people. Now when a fellow looks in his mirror and sees a gray hair he says 'well what do you know. I'm finally in the money!'

* * *

Baldheads will have to go along as best they can . . . Unless Earl gives the state a gray-hair-raising administration.

But a $600 a year income from gray hair is not bad. I don't know where a fellow with two heads could make a nicer living for doing nothing.

Rita Hayworth wouldn't be eligible for the bonus. She has a new hair color called topaz. Very effective but it wouldn't make a nickel for her in Louisiana. She'll just have to stay there in Hollywood and take movie checks until something else turns up.
